Worlds of Childhood, 24 cass. (1992). Psychology. 720 mins. Group. Focusing on the developmental processes through which human biological nature is expressed in the contexts of nurture, "Worlds of Childhood" explores the lives of children growing up in diverse social, economic & cultural conditions around the world. Univ. of Nebraska-Lincoln, GPN. VHS, Set, incl. faculty manual & reader/study guide. (Order #: E521) $1300.00.

Worlds of Childhood Unit 1, Module 1: Development & Diversity. (1992). Psychology. 30 mins. Group. Exploration of the historical, cultural, & individual diversity of childhood; what development is & how it occurs; the significance of the prolonged period of human infancy & childhood. A visual tour of development includes children in Russia, Japan, Brazil, a Cameroon rainforest & New York City. Univ. of Nebraska-Lincoln, GPN. VHS. $59.95;, stu. ed. $59.95.

Worlds of Childhood Unit 1, Module 2: The Ecology of Development. (1992). Psychology. 30 mins. Group. Factors such as biological inheritance, temperament, caregiving, family, peers, schooling, culture, & history are introduced. Four levels of the environment are defined & illustrated: microsystem, mesosystem, exosystem, & macrosystem. We meet the twelve families from five countries whose lives we will share during the course & we examine the active role children take in creating their own environments. Univ. of Nebraska-Lincoln, GPN. VHS. $59.95;, stu. ed. $59.95.

Worlds of Childhood Unit 2, Module 3: Prenatal Development & the Birth Process. (1992). Pregnancy And Childbirth. 30 mins. Group. Research on the developmental significance of the prenatal period is examined, as well as neonatal starting states that facilitate an infant's survival. Alternative birth processes are analyzed. We observe families in Brazil, Russia, & the U.S. prepare for birth & go through delivery; as we observe, we consider human genetics principles, prenatal care, & risk factors. Univ. of Nebraska-Lincoln, GPN. VHS. $59.95;, stu. ed. $59.95.

Worlds of Childhood Unit 2, Module 4: Evolution, Environment, & Growth. (1992). Science-Anatomy And Physiology. 30 mins. Group. Physical, motor, brain, & nervous system development is explored, from birth through the 5-7 years & the onset of puberty. Watching babies learn to toddle, 5-7 year-olds demonstrating newfound dexterity, & adolescents dancing in a Japanese ballet class, we see how social changes accompany biological development. Univ. of Nebraska-Lincoln, GPN. VHS. $59.95;, tchr. ed. $59.95.

Worlds of Childhood Unit 2, Module 5: Nature & Nurture Interwoven. (1992). Science-Biology. 30 mins. Group. To shed light on the sources of human variability, research in behavior genetics, the concept of heritability, & data from twin studies are juxtaposed with observations about the extent to which parents can change the future by changing the circumstances of children's lives. We watch the Oliveira children from urban Sao Paulo as they visit the rural region where their parents grew up, encounter their country cousins, & discover a much harsher life which might have been theirs. Univ. of Nebraska-Lincoln, GPN. VHS. $59.95;, stu. ed. $59.95.

Worlds of Childhood Unit 3, Module 6: Culture, Time, & Place. (1992). Psychology. 30 mins. Group. Language, schooling, & the interactions of everyday life are introduced as vehicles of acculturation that communicate values, beliefs, attitudes, & expectations to children. Following Chizuka Nakayama & her family to a traditional Japanese religious festival, we explore myth & ritual as products of culture & history that help children see themselves in a broader framework of time & value structure. Univ. of Nebraska-Lincoln, GPN. VHS. $59.95;, stu. ed. $59.95.

Worlds of Childhood Unit 3, Module 7: Family Life & the Active Child. (1992). Psychology. 30 mins. Group. In our examination of research on the family as a context of development, we learn how families bring the wider world home to children, & how they sometimes serve as a place where society's failings can begin to be reversed. Christmas Day with the Gholstons of New York & family interaction at the Popovs' home in Moscow serve as the background for an overview of issues relating to family structure & dynamics. Univ. of Nebraska-Lincoln, GPN. VHS. $59.95;, stu. ed. $59.95.

Worlds of Childhood Unit 4, Module 8: Individual Differences & Developmental Milestones. (1992). Psychology. Science-Anatomy And Physiology. 30 mins. Group. Discovering the abilities the newborn brings into the world, we trace the course of sensorimotor development over the first year, & examine the results of contemporary research on temperament, auditory & visual acuity, depth perception, phonemic discrimination, & cross-modality matching. Observing Kenzaburo Nouhata & Sidney Oliveira in their first few hours after birth, we take an intimate look at newborns as they confront situations that allow them to exhibit their capacity to act, to learn, & to remember. Univ. of Nebraska-Lincoln, GPN. VHS. $59.95;, stu. ed. $59.95.

Worlds of Childhood Unit 4, Module 9: Symbol Formation & Acquisition of Language. (1992). Psychology. 30 mins. Group. An exploration of children's capacity to learn symbols as a first step to acquiring language. Through observations in the home of the Berrigans, a deaf family who converse in American Sign Language, & visits to the Gholstons, as Avery learns to speak, we are shown how language facilitates self-awareness & builds a child's understanding of the world. Univ. of Nebraska-Lincoln, GPN. VHS. $59.95;, stu. ed. $59.95.

Worlds of Childhood Unit 4, Module 10: Concepts, Memories, & Reasons. (1992). Psychology. 30 mins. Group. As we examine the cognitive changes occurring in children between 5 & 7 years, we review research on conceptual & memory development, logical reasoning, & problem solving. The impact of these middle-childhood changes on the child's relationship to family & society is explored as Koichiro Nouhata takes on new family responsibilities, as Russian children join the Young Pioneers, & as the Oliveira children participate in the rituals of their church. Univ. of Nebraska-Lincoln, GPN. VHS. $59.95;, stu. ed. $59.95.

Worlds of Childhood Unit 4, Module 11: Responsive Caregiving. (1992). Child Care And Parenting. 30 mins. Exploring the ways in which American caregiving has changed over the past century, we consider research on the effects of variations in sleeping, nursing, comforting, & disciplining. As we observe variations in specific caregiving practices in the U.S., Russia, Japan, & among the Baka of Cameroon, we examine the importance of responsive interaction in building a positive relationship between child & caregiver. Univ. of Nebraska-Lincoln, GPN. VHS. $59.95;, stu. ed. $59.95.

Worlds of Childhood Unit 4, Module 12: Interactional Styles & Attachment. (1992). Child Care And Parenting. 30 mins. Group. Focusing on interactions between children & their caregivers, we discuss research results concerning the attachment relationship in terms of caregiver sensitivity, predictability, & respect for children as individuals. As we follow Italian preschoolers setting out to explore a cave, we examine the effect of responsive interactions on children's ability to engage the world on their own. Univ. of Nebraska-Lincoln, GPN. VHS. $59.95;, stu. ed. $59.95.

Worlds of Childhood Unit 4, Module 13: Gender, Early Morality, & the Self. (1992). Psychology. 30 mins. Group. Research on the role of the family in a child's development of gender roles, early moral emotions, prosocial behavior, & self-concept are considered. We observe the Nouhatas celebrating Children's Day (formerly Boy's Day) in Japan, & boys & girls playing at Avery Gholston's day care center, & we learn that children's behavior outside the family depends in part on how they have learned to act toward those within the family. Univ. of Nebraska-Lincoln, GPN. VHS. $79.95;, stu. ed. $59.95.

Worlds of Childhood Unit 4, Module 14: Rivalry & Interdependence in Sibling Relationships. (1992). Psychology. Child Care And Parenting. Interpersonal Relations. Family. 30 mins. A detailed examination of sibling relationships shows siblings as allies, rivals, & as caregivers. The effects of birth order are discussed, & the ways in which economics may both shape the values of families & define the roles of siblings. Observing Stas Popov's reactions to newborn brother Vitaly, we learn how parental behavior can reduce the stress that may accompany the birth of a new sibling. Univ. of Nebraska-Lincoln, GPN. VHS. $59.95;, stu. ed. $59.95.

Worlds of Childhood Unit 5, Module 15: Day Care & the Preschool Experience. (1992). Child Care And Parenting. 30 mins. Group. The impact of industrialization & urbanization on mothering & day care is addressed, & we learn that the way children are cared for reflects both the values & economic conditions of the society. We observe the child care practices of the Baka, who do not separate work from family life, & we visit Italian, Japanese, & American day care centers to compare Baka practices to those of industrialized societies. Our commentators analyze the current controversies over the risks & benefits of day care. Univ. of Nebraska-Lincoln, GPN. VHS. $59.95;, stu. ed. $59.95.

Worlds of Childhood Unit 5, Module 16: Learning & Achievement. (1992). Psychology. Education. 30 mins. Group. The role that learning plays in the lives of children, the functions of schooling, & children's orientation toward mastery & achievement are addressed, as we observe events surrounding the child's first day of school in Japan, Russia, Brazil, & the United States. Variables that enhance learning & promote competence are discussed, as we see Brazilian street vendors successfully making change but failing comparable paper & pencil math problems. Univ. of Nebraska-Lincoln, GPN. VHS. $59.95;, stu. ed. $59.95.

Worlds of Childhood Unit 6, Module 17: Friendship, Gender, & Morality. (1992). Psychology. Interpersonal Relations. 30 mins. Exploring the nature & functions of friendship, we focus on the role of peer relationships & games with rules in the development of morality. Research on gender differences in middle children is examined as we visit Guatemalan girls washing clothes, Baka boys helping fathers fell trees, & girls around the world playing handclapping games. Our commentators discuss boys' & girls' use of justice & care as moral perspectives. Univ. of Nebraska-Lincoln, GPN. VHS. $79.95;, stu. ed. $59.95.

Worlds of Childhood Unit 6, Module 18: Peer Culture. (1992). Psychology. 30 mins. Focusing on the importance of peer culture to the developing child, we explore the two "worlds" children must negotiate during middle childhood & adolescense; the authority of adults & adolescence; the authority of adults & the cooperation of peers. The nature of peer group as a microsociety is analyzed through a look at "los abandonados", a homeless & parentless group of children in Guatemala City who live completely within a peer-organized world. Univ. of Nebraska-Lincoln, GPN. VHS. $59.95;, stu. ed. $59.95.

Worlds of Childhood Unit 7, Module 19: Adolescence, the Prolonged Transition. (1992). Psychology. Adolescence. 30 mins. Group. Through historical & cross-cultural comparisons we explore the extent to which the concept of adolescence as a period of increased autonomy, identity development, & risk taking is a social construction. The biological aspects of puberty & emerging sexuality are addressed. As Sandra Oliveira prepares for "carneval" & a Baka youth undergoes a traditional puberty rite, we observe examples of adolescents in transition from family to a broader adult world. Univ. of Nebraska-Lincoln, GPN. VHS. $59.95;, stu. ed. $59.95.

Worlds of Childhood Unit 7, Module 20: Risk & Resilience. (1992). Psychology. 30 mins. Group. An exploration of a child's day among the Baka as it compares to a child's day in rural Brazil or in the industrial U.S. shows the ways that material circumstances specifically & directly shape children's lives, providing both vulnerabilities & opportunities for development. We examine this tension between risk & resilience as we learn the specific risks of development & the social, family interactional, & person variables associated with resilience. Univ. of Nebraska-Lincoln, GPN. VHS. $59.95;, stu. ed. $59.95.

Worlds of Childhood Unit 7, Module 21: Poverty, Child Health, & Child Labor. (1992). Sociology. 30 mins. Exploring the socioeconomic factors that have historically played a powerful role in children's lives, we contrast decline in infant/child mortality & child labor in industrial societies with current conditions in non-industrial societies. Child labor in Guatemala provides one of several examples of the harsh economic circumstances in which many children still live. Univ. of Nebraska-Lincoln, GPN. VHS. $79.95;, stu. ed. $59.95.

Worlds of Childhood Unit 7, Module 22: Family Stress: the Child's Perspective. (1992). Psychology. 30 mins. Group. In examining the social & economic forces that bend & alter families & increase risks for children, we review research results on the effects of divorce on children, & observe the Krilovs, a Russian family on the edge of divorce. The determinants & outcomes of teen pregnancy are discussed with American teen mothers & mothers-to-be. Univ. of Nebraska-Lincoln, GPN. VHS. $59.95; pap., stu. ed. $59.95.

Worlds of Childhood Unit 7, Modules 23 & 24: The Nature & Nurture of Development - Summary & Review, 2 cass. (1992). Psychology. 60 mins. Group. A final look at the major themes of the telecourse, & of childhood as a convergence of biology, history, economics, family & peer relationships, schooling, community, & culture. As we observe an American baby at five months learning to manipulate her world, Brazilian children playing in the street, & children exploring a display at the Smithsonian, we are reminded that children are themselves active constructors of the worlds of childhood. Univ. of Nebraska-Lincoln, GPN. VHS, Set. $59.95;, stu. ed. $59.95.

WWII - Breadlines to Boomtimes Vol. 1: Changing the Face of America. (1994). World War, 1939-1945. History, American. Color and B&W. 60 mins. (YA). Age: 11-UP. (gr. 6 up). Hosted by James B. Sikking. Politics make war, & men & women do the fighting. And a war such as World War II is as much of a war of economy as of armies. For each soldier, each sailor, each airman had alongside him the factory worker, the shipbuilder, the "Rosie the Riveter" that so epitomized a time of unity that may never be repeated again. This is an incredible story of a homefront which mobilized as no people have ever done before - to lift a nation from the jaws of depression & aggression into an economic war machine unparalleled in the history of man. Monterey Media, Inc. VHS. (ISBN: 978-1-56994-132-4(7), Order #: 34851, UPC: 012233485134) $24.95.

WWII - Breadlines to Boomtimes Vol. 2: A World in Flames. (1994). World War, 1939-1945. History, American. Color and B&W. 60 mins. (YA). Age: 11-UP. (gr. 6 up). Video Released Oct. 1994. Hosted by James B. Sikking. This is America, the land of opportunity, the land of promise. Yet there was no work. In a land built on hope, on promise, on dreams, there were breadlines, there were bank closures, & there were so many frightened faces. Within the years following "the war to end all wars," corporate America grew. The industrial revolution blossomed, & credit became a way of life. The rich got richer & then it came crashing down. America became embroiled in the harsh reality of an industrial economy in depression. And while ominous signs of pending global conflicts flickered across the oceans America tried to fight its economic way back. Monterey Media, Inc. VHS. (ISBN: 978-1-56994-133-1(5), Order #: 34852, UPC: 012233485233) $24.95.

WWII - Breadlines to Boomtimes Vol. 3: The Problems of Peace. (1994). World War, 1939-1945. History, American. Color and B&W. 60 mins. (YA). Age: 11-UP. (gr. 6 up). Video Released Oct. 1994. Hosted by James B. Sikking. An incredible industrial war machine had been assembled & had emerged victorious. The face of America, as well as the world would be forever changed. Women had gone to work & liked it. Minorities had taken their place in the factories & in the trenches. Rural population & values had given way to the rise of the cities. Large cities, favoring large corporations, had been integral in the creation of the successful military. The economy of war success would now have to adapt to peace. Prosperity had a new enemy. Ya Basta! the Battle Cry of the Faceless. (1997). Sociology. Documentaries (Feature Films). Foreign Films-Mexico. Color. 50 mins. Directed by Thierry Zeno. In Mexico on January 1, 1994, Indians of Mayan origin staged an armed take-over of several Chiapas municipalities. but the "Zapatista Army of National Liberation" did not wish to seize power; rather it demanded land, work, housing, education, healthcare, food, justice, independence, freedom & democracy. A war of words has replaced the armed struggle, but the lives of the Indians today are no less precarious than before. The Indian men & women speak, re-situating their struggle in its human, cultural & Historical context. First Run/Icarus Films. VHS. $390.00, Rental 75.00.

Yaji & Kita - the Midnight Pilgrims, 1 disc. Orig. Title: Mayonaka no Yaji-san Kita-san. Color. 124 mins. mins. Age: 17-UP. NR. (Dubbed: English, Japanese. Subtitled: English). Video Released Jun. 2006. In the ancient Edo period, Yaji and Kita are two flamboyant, down-and-out samurai who embark on a journey on their souped-up chopper to battle Kita's heroin addiction and contemplate the meaning of their truly bizarre existence. On their way to a healing shrine at Ise, they trip through a world where fantasy is reality, and the past and present intersect. A surreal blend of slapstick comedy, musical and EASY RIDER, YAJI AND KITA heralds the directorial debut of Kankuro Kudo (acclaimed writer of Takashi Miike's ZEBRAMAN) and stars Tomoya Nagase and Shichinosuke Nakamura as the whacked-out titular duo. Marked with a unique brand of cinematic mayhem, this hallucinogenic gay love story is sure to delight and bewilder all who dare journey with them. Media Blasters, Inc. (Tokyo Shock). DVD. Yakuza Graveyard. (1976). Color. 92 mins. (Japanese, Subtitled: English). Video Released Jun. 2006. Featuring Meiko Kaji, Tetsuya Watari. Tormented by guilt and embroiled in a literal dead-end affair with a woman he widowed in the line of duty, renegade Detective Kuroiwa (Tetsuya Watari - Tokyo Drifter) is the one-man definition of "rogue cop." When his corrupt superiors assign Kuroiwa to the organized crime beat, they inadvertently pull the pin on a gun-toting human hand-grenade. Violating his "hands-off" orders, Kuroiwa plunges fists first into the Nishida gang yakuza underworld. And when he meets Keiko (70s Japanese action film icon Meiko Kaji - Lady Snowblood, Female Prisoner Scorpion), the beautiful half-Korean wife of an imprisoned Nishida boss, Kuroiwa finds himself risking much more than just his badge. Outlaw cop and gang-moll become both lovers and unwitting pawns in a brazen, police-sanctioned yakuza power-grab conspiracy. As Kuroiwa is forced to choose a side, the stage is set for betrayal, degradation and massacre. A story of personal depravity, national racism, and romantic self-sacrifice, Yakuza Graveyard takes its place alongside Oshima's In the Realm of the Senses and Shohei Imamura's Vengeance Is Mine as one of the handful of spectacularly graphic and accomplished downward spiral films of 70s Japanese cinema. Kino on Video. DVD. (UPC: 7 3832904672 9) $24.95.

Yali Story. Color. 77 MINS mins. Video Released May 2003. This is the story of a community of Stone-Age people living in the mountain jungles of Papua, (formerly called Irian Jaya). Until the 1960s, this unique culture existed without any idea of a world beyond their own isolated villages. The Yali were cannibals, warriors, and lived in fear of evil spirits. Just four decades ago, westerners entered their primitive world. The foreign missionaries learned the Yali language and culture, taught the Yali to read and write, and translated with them the most published book in the world ? the Bible. The Yali no longer live in fear, but live with faith, hope and love. The Yali live simple lives - without electricity, without running water, with very few possessions. Some would consider them primitive, but there is an intelligence, a simplicity, a dignity to their lives that is amazingly rare and beautiful. A unique culture living centuries apart from the western world, this story documents the transformation from stone-age cannibals to scholars translating the Bible. God transformed their hearts ? their churches are packed, they are no longer cannibals or warriors, they are Bible teachers and evangelists. The Yali were cannibals, warriors, and lived in fear of evil spirits. Four decades ago foreign missionaries learned the Yali language, taught the Yali the Bible. Today the Yali no longer live in fear, but live with faith, hope and love.Contains four parts:27-minute documentary40-minute discussion "Lessons from The Yali Story"5-minute trailer3-minute music video. Yellow Asphalt. (2000). Color. 87 mins. NR. (Arabic, Subtitled: English). Video Released Jun. 2004. Directed by Danny Verete. As western culture gradually began to infiltrate the Judean desert, once the sole domain of the Bedouin tribes, the convergence of contemporary mores and ancient traditions was unavoidable. At the edge of modern Israel and the Bedouin way of life, three dramatic encounters between two very different societies set the stage for Yellow Asphalt: the tragic death of a Bedouin boy on the asphalt road cutting the desert in two; the impossible marriage between a German woman and her Bedouin husband; and the forbidden love affair of a Bedouin maid and her Israeli employer. Shot on location in the exotic landscapes of the Judean desert with the participation of the Bedouin tribe Jahalin,² at the heart of Yellow Asphalt are tales of the human condition of passion and deceit, carelessness and love, courage and selfishness, in which no one culture has a monopoly on virtue or vice. Your Baby's First Year: To Help You Parent Your Child. Orig. Title: Teens Parenting-Your Baby's First Year. (1995). Child Care And Parenting. Color. 50 mins. Video Released Sep. 1995. Directed by Joan Anderson. Contribution by Jeanne Lindsey, David Crawford. This video production is designed to be used in four stand-alone sessions to supplement the book "Teens Parenting-Your Baby's First Year" by Jeanne Warren Lindsay..In Part I (0-4 months), new parents talk about the tiredness, the frustrations, the challenges, & the joys of having their new baby home. They discuss how to comfort an infant, the importance of talking to him, breast versus bottle feeding, & bathing baby. Part II (4-8 months) & III (8-12 months) continue the discussions of baby's development - feeding solid food & teething, for example. Child proofing single parenting, safety & other issues are addressed. The final section, Part IV, "Health Care for Baby's First Year" covers immunizations, allergies, colds, diarrhea, ear infections, & other illnesses. Teen parents are the major players. The adult narrator plays only a small part in the video because we feel teens learn more from listening to other teens. Shots of the babies & parents add charm & reality to the dialog. You're Fired! The Ten Quickest Ways to Lose Your Job & How to Avoid Them. 30 minutes mins. Produced by JIST/NaJor Productions. The idea that employees will spend their entire careers at one or two companies is outdated. Today it is likely that you will change jobs an average of eight to twelve times in your lifetime. But at the same time, you want that job change to be your decision ? not as a result of being fired. Too often, however, people don?t look at the job they have now as an opportunity to learn and grow. They may feel stuck in a job they don?t enjoy or that does not seem to have a future. Over time, they develop a bad attitude or work habits that end up getting them fired ? and they?ve lost that golden opportunity to build job skills, gain recommendations, and create professional relationships that will help them throughout their careers.This video helps students and job seekers avoid getting fired by teaching them about common work ethics: learning new skills, making valuable contacts, building positive recommendations, maintaining a good professional reputation, and more. Having a good work ethic puts people in the best position to move up in their current job or obtain a new and better one. This video teaches people how to transform themselves into a desirable commodity and lay the foundation for a successful career. JIST Publishing. DVD. Yumeji. (1991). Color. (Japanese, Subtitled: English). Video Released Mar. 2006. Featuring Kenji Sawada, Tomoko Mariya, Tamasaburo Bando, Masumi Miyazaki. Yumeji is the final film in youth-gone-berserk auteur Seijun Suzuki's acclaimed Taisho Trilogy. Sensual and absurdist, it spins a ghost story around the character and work of real-life painter and poet Yumeji Takehisa (1884-1934). The eponymous character - conjured by Suzuki as a chronic philanderer and dreamer played by former rock star Kenji Sawada - is plagued with ideals of perfect beauty and the terror of his own demise. He falls in love with women, but can never capture their hearts. He is constantly escaping his rivals, but can never face them down. As the film opens, Yumeji is on a scenic trip to Kanazawa, where he plans to meet Hikono (Masumi Miyazaki), his lover. Instead, he falls for Tomoyo, a recent widow whose husband, Wakiya (Yoshio Harada), was slain by the murderously jealous Onimatsu. Complications ensue when Wakiya returns from the dead; Onimatsu is understandably distraught. Yumeji is not deterred, however, setting out to seduce Tomoyo while avoiding the rages of Wakiya and Onimatsu, as well as a phalanx of ghosts, apparitions, and nightmares. Kino on Video. DVD. Y2K: Hidden Dangers of Martial Law & A Police State. Prophecy. Color. G. Video Released May 1999. Contribution by Colby Collier, James Lundeen, Michelle Delgado. Produced by Wanda Marrs, Texe Marrs. Will President Bill Clinton use the Y2K computer bug crisis as a pretext to declare martial law & usher in a brutal Gestapo police state? Could the frightening predictions of doomsayers actually come true? Are our freedoms & liberties as Americans in serious peril? This thought-provoking video points to a startling plan by the federal government for mobilization of the National Guard & FEMA in all 50 states. It examines White House executive orders that give the federal government awesome dictatorial powers & also discloses secret preparations by the FBI, BATF, the U. S. Army's "nightstalker" Delta Force Unit & other Federal police state agencies. You'll also see shocking evidence proving that the Y2K emergency could well be a pre-planned, contrived crisis. The powerful men behind this incredible plot are unmasked as their hidden objectives are laid bare. This mind-jarring video reveals that there's far more to the Y2K crisis than most Americans could ever imagine. RiverCrest Publishing. VHS. (ISBN: 978-0-9667421-3-8(3), UPC: 9780966742138) $19.95.

Z Channel: A Magnificent Obsession. Color. 120 mins. R. Video Released Oct. 2005. Featuring Robert Altman, Jacqueline Bisset, F. X. Feeney, James B. Harris, Jerry Harvey, James Woods, Jim Jarmusch, Alexander Payne, Theresa Russell, Penelope Spheeris, Quentin Tarantino, Henry Jaglom. Launched in 1974 in Los Angeles, Z Channel was one of the country's first pay cable stations. Its prominence was solidified in 1980 when maverick programmer Jerry Harvey took over as head of programming. Z's uniqueness was attributed to Harvey and his staff's determination, diverse taste and encyclopedic knowledge of cinema. Harvey 's programming showcased a combination of classic, international, independent, and Hollywood films. Z was the first to develop programming innovations such as 'director's cuts' and uniquely themed on air festivals, while also airing many rare and never before seen exclusives and critically acclaimed films not in the mainstream. The documentary chronicles Harvey 's emergence as a brilliant programmer, but also explores Harvey's emotional and psychological descent, which eventually resulted in a shocking murder/suicide and the eventual demise of Z Channel itself. Zigeunerweisen (Tsigoineruwaizen) (1980). Color. 148 mins. (Japanese, Subtitled: English). Video Released Mar. 2006. Featuring Yoshio Harada, Naoko Otani, Akaji Maro, Michiyo Okusa, Toshiya Fujita. Set in a 1920s Japan saturated with decadence and nihilism, Zigeunerweisen is the tale of a disparate quartet drawn together by unseen strings of fate - and nearly driven mad by their own fears and desires. Aochi, a Japanese professor of German, vacations in a seaside town and discovers Nakasago, a former classmate, full-time vagabond - and suspected serial killer. During their reunion, they both fall hard for the beautiful local geisha Koine. But when Nakasago marries - and abandons - eerie Koine-lookalike Sono, the men's mutual obsession for Koine escalates into paranoia and treachery spiked with undercurrents of witchcraft and the sinister presence of supernatural denizens. Titled after a Pablo Sarasate violin composition that haunts the film both narratively and aurally, Zigeunerweisen was a smash hit on its native soil. The film snagged the 1981 Japanese Academy Awards for Best Picture and Best Director, and was instantly established as both an essential work of the national cinema and the twisted magnum opus of the inimitable, go-go groundbreaker Suzuki. Kino on Video. DVD. (UPC: 6 9845220343 0) $29.95.

Zygielbojm's Death. 52 mins. Contribution by Marek Nowowiejski, Dzamila Ankiewicz. Szmul Arthur Zygielbojm was a brilliant Polish Jew, an important member of Warsaw's Jewish Bund in the years leading up to the Nazi occupation. In 1942 he was smuggled to Belgium, New York and London to inform those governments of the Nazi horrors in Poland. His efforts to influence high ranking members of each government were futile. Frustrated, he considered his efforts a failure and later committed suicide. Filmakers Library. VHS. $295.00.

The 10 Commandments. Color. 75 mins. (J). Age: 5-UP. Home, Broadcast. G. Video Released Aug. 2005. This marvelous animation introduces the Ten Commandments in stories that children of today can relate to and understand in their own way. Its central characters are youngsters dealing with the common situations of a child?s modern daily life - at home, in school, or playing with friends.The family is of central importance in this DVD, because it is within the family circle that children grow and learn best. Quite often children find themselves in situations in which they are challenged to make the right choices, and those right choices must be guided by the Ten Commandments of God. Each Commandment is taught in the form of an easy-to-understand story, and each ?Commandment Story? is a separate chapter on the DVD. Every chapter begins with a cheerful monk-teacher, who introduces the story with a friendly reminder that Jesus gave us the single Greatest Commandment of them all - ?Love one another as I have loved you.? Designed for ages 2 through 8. A 13-page PDF Teacher?s Guide is included on the DVD-ROM, when the DVD is accessed from a computer. Janson Media. DVD. The 3 Penny Opera. Color. 110 mins. (German). Video Released Aug. 2007. Directed by G. W. Pabst. The sly melodies of composer Kurt Weill and the daring of dramatist Bertolt Brecht come together on-screen under the direction of German auteur G. W. Pabst (Pandora's Box) in this classic adaptation of the Weimar-era theatrical sensation. Set in the impoverished back alleys of Victorian London, The Threepenny Opera follows underworld antihero Mackie Messer (a.k.a. Mack the Knife) as he tries to woo Polly Peachum and elude the authorities. With its palpable evocation of corruption and dread, set to Weill's irresistible score, The Threepenny Opera remains a benchmark of early sound cinema. Criterion Collection. DVD. (ISBN: 978-1-934121-83-2(5)) $39.95.
